Respected Mehul Sir,

I hope this letter finds you well. I am writing to express my concerns regarding the inadequate facilities provided during examinations, which have significantly affected my performance and that of my fellow students.

As a student, I believe it is imperative to have access to basic necessities in the examination hall to ensure a fair and conducive environment for all candidates. Unfortunately, recent experiences have highlighted several deficiencies that need urgent attention.

Firstly, the seating arrangement in the examination hall is highly uncomfortable and cramped. The desks are too small to accommodate the examination materials adequately, leading to unnecessary clutter and distraction during the exam. Additionally, the lack of sufficient spacing between desks makes it challenging to focus, especially during longer examinations.

Furthermore, the lighting in the examination hall is inadequate, causing strain and discomfort to students. Proper lighting is essential for maintaining concentration and clarity while attempting the exam questions. The dimly lit environment adds unnecessary stress and hampers our ability to perform to the best of our abilities.

Moreover, the ventilation in the examination hall is subpar, resulting in poor air quality and discomfort for examinees. Adequate airflow is crucial for maintaining alertness and preventing fatigue during examinations, yet the current ventilation system falls short of meeting these requirements.

Additionally, the lack of accessible restroom facilities near the examination hall poses a significant inconvenience to students, especially during longer examination sessions. Students should not have to compromise their exam time or concentration due to the unavailability of basic amenities such as restrooms.

In light of these issues, I urge you to take immediate action to address the deficiencies in the examination hall facilities. Providing comfortable seating arrangements, adequate lighting, proper ventilation, and accessible restroom facilities will contribute to creating a conducive environment for academic assessments.

I believe that by rectifying these shortcomings, the university can uphold its commitment to ensuring a fair and supportive academic environment for all students. Your prompt attention to this matter would be greatly appreciated.

Thank you for your understanding and cooperation.

Sincerely,

Dhara Sudra
